SENIOR CLASS SUBSCRIBES $1,615 TO ATHLETIC FIELD

Forty-Two Seniors Pledge Funds to Challenge Corporation

Forty-two members of the class of 1925 who graduate in June subscribed $1,615 to the Alumni Athletic Challenge Field Corporation at a senior meeting which was held in Main hall auditorium yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. The class also voted to make a gift of the senior class treasury, which will be approximately $244, to the Challenge Field.

William Gallagher, president of the class, appointed a committee composed of Vivian Corby, chairman; Lucile Mathews, Charles Conley, Marion Fitzpatrick, Margaret Harris, Fred Martin, Ben Gordon, Marian Prescott, Elizabeth Roe, Hubert White, Margaret Anderson and Einar Strommes, to see the other members of the class and get their subscriptions. This committee will meet Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Main hall.

J. B. Speer, registrar, spoke to the students on the observance of commencement week and on the preliminary plans which had been arranged. Plans include an alumni-senior night to be held Saturday, June 13. The baccalaureate services and the commencement program. Mr. Speer said that this year there would be more of an effort to entertain the parents of the students than ever before. Special reserved seat tickets may be obtained for them.

George Shepard, president of the Alumni Athletic Challenge Field Corporation, told the seniors of the progress which had been made on the field and what would be started soon after track meet.

Lurena Black, Myrtle Shaw and Wallace Brennan were appointed to take charge of the Class Day exercises.

Horse Throws Cox When Car Appears

Professor Sidney Cox received painful injuries when he was thrown from a horse while riding on Maurice avenue Saturday. A deep cut above the right eye and body bruises resulted from the accident.

Professor Nicholas Kaitches was riding the horse but was not satisfied with the mount. He dismounted at the Cox home and Mr. Cox took his place in the saddle. The stirrups were short and the horse was a little frisky.

In speaking of the accident Mr. Cox said, "The horse had recently come from a pasture where it had been for the winter and was a bit skittish. The stirrups were short. She wanted to run and I gave her her head. She was traveling some, and I was enjoying the ride until an automobile and a street car appeared before us. The horse headed for the car and I tried to turn her aside but she was bent upon running over the car. I took the easiest way as she made a jump to the right, I slid off and got tangled up among her feet. Her hoof caught me in the head but the injury was not severe."

Four stitches were taken to close her cut of Mr. Cox's temple. He attended his classes yesterday.

UNIVERSITY MEN COMPOSE PLAYS FOR MASQUERS

THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS TO BE PRESENTED

Clements, Crandell, Dahlberg Are Student Authors of Production to Be Given Wednesday Night.

"It was discovered recently that three of the four one-act plays to be presented by the Masquers tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the University auditorium were written by students of the University," George W. Cronyn, director of the Masquers, announced yesterday. "We knew that two of the plays were written by students, but last week it was found that C. Campbell Clements, author of 'Pierrot in Paris,' attended the University during the years 1913-1915."

"Pierrot in Paris" will open the evening's program of the Masquers. The scene of the symbolic play is laid in front of a French restaurant and the cast includes: Pierrot, Harold Rhude; Margaret, Pauline Swartz; Colette, Dorothy Dall; Meg, Eleanor McBaron; and Le Garcon, Jack Coulter. The play is under the direction of Helen Walsh.

"The Pig-Head" was written by Richard F. Crandell, formerly editor of the Kaimin, who graduated from the University last quarter. It is a play of everyday life, and the scene is laid in the home of the Norris family, owners of the Verbeck Coal Mining company, Verbeck, Montana. The cast is composed of: Mrs. Norris, Louise Joughin; Orton, her son, a young attorney, Everett Patterson; Fanny Norris, her daughter-in-law, Lillian Shaw; and Calvin Norris, superintendent of the mining company, and Fanny's husband, Bob Myers. Mrs. Lois Alle Williams is directing the play.

D'Arcy Dahlberg, a junior in the English department, is the author of "The Damned Lie," a "study of one who is and one who isn't." The scene takes place in a small house in a squallid Indian reservation town of western Montana. The cast consists of: Phil Granger, a college graduate, Fred Staat; Himself, the inner consciousness or Phil as he might have been, Paul Judge; Wilton Granger, John Ryan; Winifred Smith, a friend, Dorothy Behner; the mother, John Birkeland; Big Andrew, a farmer, and something else, Craig Wilcox. Mary Schoenborn is the director.

"The Maker of Dreams," a fantasy in one act, was written by Olliphant Down, a young English dramatist killed in the World war. The scene is in an old English cottage. The cast follows: Pierrot, Martin J. Coen; Pierrette, Margaret Veeder; the Maker of Dreams, Laverne Campbell; Julia Woolfolk has the direction of the play.

An admission of 25 cents will be charged for the performances.

DRUIDS INITIATE FIVE NEW MEMBERS

Initiation is Held in Woods up Marshall Gulch Around Huge Camp Fire

Professor Dorris Skeels, Associate Professor I. W. Cook, Tom Van Meter, Force Baney and Carl Beall of the Forestry school were initiated into the Druids, local forestry fraternity, last night. The initiation was held several miles up Marshall gulch. The party left the Forestry school in automobiles last night at 7 o'clock, returning late in the evening. Dean T. C. Spaulding, of the Forestry school, Dean A. L. Stone, of the School of Journalism, Professor Fay Clark and Jerry Ramskill of the Forestry school, Paul Graff, professor of botany and Professor J. W. Severy, all honorary members of the organization, accompanied the members of the Druids on their jaunt. Following the initiation in the woods the group gathered around a huge camp fire where short talks were made by the faculty members and the initiates. Refreshments consisting of hot dogs, coffee and cake were indulged in by the woodsmen.

The Druids were founded last year by several members of the Forestry club. The purpose of the group is to promote a spirit of good feeling and relationship with the men of Forestry, to foster the Forestry club and the Montana Forestry school.

Gertrude Maloney, of Missoula, who is attending the University of Idaho, was a guest at the initiation banquet of Alpha Chi Omega.

There will be a regular faculty meeting today in Main hall auditorium at 4 o'clock.

MANY HIGH SCHOOLS ENTER CONTESTANTS

Interscholastic Committee Completing Arrangements for Big Week

Entries for the University's 22nd Interscholastic track meet will close next Wednesday, May 6, all entry blanks that are in the mails on that date being acceptable, according to Dr. J. P. Rowe, chairman of the Interscholastic committee.

Among the entries already received are Flathead county high school of Kalispell; Teton county high school of Culbertson; Willow Creek; Bainville; Roberts and Wibaux high schools; Bridger, Chouteau county, White Sulphur Springs, Belfry, Anaconda, Butte, Cascade, Chester, Wolf Point, and Incomar high schools were the entries received by Dr. Rowe yesterday.

Most of the schools will not send their entry lists until the last day or two, as preliminary and district meets now being held to determine what athletes will be most capable of winning points for their schools.

Many Others to Enter

Butte Central, Great Falls, Park county, Gallatin county, Custer county, Carbon county, Polson, Thompson Falls, Hamilton, Stevensville, Corvallis, Victor, Darby, Florence, Carlton, Beveridge county, Powell county, Havre, Harlem, Hardin, Forsyth, Dawson county, Libby, Lincoln county, Billings, Columbus, point winners in last year's meet, and many other schools, as well as Missoula county high school and Loyola, may be expected to enter the 1925 meet.

Fred Martin, who is in charge of the advertising feature of the meet, has been carrying on an extensive publicity campaign. Dr. J. P. Rowe, chairman of the Interscholastic committee, gave a talk over KTCM radio station last Thursday night. Dr. Rowe will speak again this Thursday on the plans and program for the 22nd annual meet. Martin also spoke to the listeners of the radio world last night, in connection with the regular radio program which was broadcast. He spoke of former Interscholastic stars, and emphasized the "largeness" of this year's Interscholastic meet which opens at the University May 12.

The ASUM store is offering a valuable pennant or blanket for the best decorated fraternity house during the meet. Fraternities are urged by the committee to make final plans for the decoration of their respective houses, as the decorating should start next Monday.

Tom Van Meter has a crew consisting of Chief Myers and Donald Buckingham painting the large arch which is being built and which will be placed over the entrance of the campus. The arch will stand more than 15 feet in height. It will be a permanent structure and will be used in the meets to come. University colors will be used in all decorations. Arnold Gillette is handling the art work for the arch, which will be illuminated by electric flood lights.

Robert Harper announces that the transportation end of the meet is lining up nicely, but that more cars are needed to meet trains and take the contestants to their lodging houses. Those who have cars and would care to drive them during the opening days of the meet should see Harper at once and sign up for the time that they can assist the committee.

Captains of the Chamber of Commerce teams which have undertaken to sell the 1,200 season tickets needed to guarantee the success of the meet from a financial standpoint are working now, with the big "cleanup" drive slated for Thursday, May 7. That morning all of the captains with their teams will take the field for a general canvass of all prospects. It will be necessary to sell $3,000 worth of season tickets to assure the University an even break in financing the coming meet.

FREEMAN TO SPEAK AT PRESS MEETING

"The Kaimin" will be the subject of the talk before the members of the Press club Wednesday evening, May 6. Professor E. L. Freeman, of the English department, will speak. The Press club meets at 7:30 o'clock at the Journalism building.

Elsie Eminger passed the week-end at her home in Butte.

Louis Stevens, Jesse Lewellen, and Woodard Dutton are expected to file petitions for the editorship of next year's Kaimin.

The candidates for the 1925 election will present their platform speeches at a student convocation in Main hall, Monday, May 11, and the primaries will be held the next day.

Conference Record Broken; Other Marks Equaled in Fast Meet

Scoring nine first places, winning the mile relay, and taking a liberal number of second and third places, Coach Jim Stewart's Grizzly track team smashed through to a sensational victory over the Washington State college Cougars, 73 to 58, Saturday. The brilliant individual performance of Russell Sweet, who took firsts in the 100, 220, high and broad jumps, breaking the Const conference record in the 220 and tying it in the century, was chiefly responsible for the victory. Sweet accounted for 20 points in Montana's first conference victory over the Cougars.

Sweet Breaks Record

Sweet flew down the track in 9.4-5 seconds to defeat Jacobs of the Cougars, equalling the record made by Morris Kirksey of Stanford in 1920. Left in his holes at the start of the 220, the big Grizzly flier sped down to a victory over Jacobs in the sensational time of 21.3 seconds, 3-10 of a second less than the record held also by Kirksey. Before the meet the high jump and broad jump were practically conceded to the Cougars, but Sweet pulled a big surprise by taking firsts in both events with a jump of 5 feet 7 in the former and a leap of 21 feet 2 1/2 inches.

Clarence Coyle was second high point man of the Grizzly squad, scoring 11 points with first place in the pole vault, second in the low hurdles, and third in the javelin, 100-yard dash, and broad jump. Coyle vaulted 11 feet 7 inches to win the pole vault, going four inches higher than any Montana man ever went in this event.

Faculty Women Meet To Honor Old Members

A meeting of the Faculty Women's club was held Monday at the home of Mrs. C. W. Leapheart, with Mrs. C. H. Clapp, Mrs. G. D. Shallenberger, Mrs. S. Merrill, Mrs. Edmond Freeman, Mrs. Doris Skeels, and Mrs. P. W. Graff, as hostesses. The meeting was held in honor of those women who have been members of the organization longest.

The guests of honor were Mrs. F. C. Scheuch, Mrs. M. J. Elrod, Mrs. J. P. Rowe, Miss Frances Corbin, and Mrs. Warren Wilcox. The entertainment was in the form of a one-act play, called "Facts and Fiction to Feed the Fancy," and brought out happenings in the early history of the University, connected with those who took part in it. The cast of the play was: Mrs. Clapp, Mrs. Merrill, Miss Polley, and Miss Lucille Jameson.

Mrs. J. M. Keith, Mrs. Scotty Brown, Mrs. C. H. McLeod, Mrs. E. H. Boos, Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson, Mrs. John Ross, Miss Mary Atwater, Mrs. Bill Turner, Mrs. Theodore Brantly, Mrs. William Orvis, Mrs. G. F. Peterson, and Mrs. Hilda Knowles Blair were special guests for the afternoon.

After the program, refreshments were served on the lawn.

OLD INDIAN POSES FOR EVAN REYNOLDS

Evan Reynolds, a junior in the Fine Arts department and assistant to Mrs. Bateman, instructor in the department, has begun work on another oil painting of Frank Le Moose, an old Flathead Indian who has posed for him several times before. "The Indian is very good about posing, and is much smarter and shrewder than most people realize," said Evan.

"Mrs. Bateman and I drove out to Le Moose's tepee near the fair grounds, where the old Indian is gathering bitter roots. We had already made an appointment with him, but for further inducement for him to come to town and pose, we presented him with some cigarettes. To our dismay, we found he didn't smoke."

"He posed for me about an hour and a half, and then promised to come again Wednesday and Friday afternoons of this week so that I may finish the painting. He seems eager to pose, and afraid to rest for fear he may not earn his money, although he is over 80 years old. I think, and is troubled badly with rheumatism. His son, Pierre Le Moose, who is reputed to be the best dancer of his tribe, has also posed for me."

Thanks to the Track Men

SATURDAY the Montana track team took a jaunt to Pullman, Washington, and handed the highly touted Cougars a 73 to 58 drubbing in their own den. Led by several brilliant performers, one of whom managed to lower a record set by the speedy Kirksey of Stanford, the Grizzlies left little doubt as to their superiority. "A well balanced, splendidly trained team" is the comment of one Pullman newspaper, and fans who saw the meet are no less enthusiastic in their praise of the Montana athletes. Not since 1906 has the University been able to defeat W.S.C. on the cinders and not once since we entered the conference has the feat been accomplished.

Coming as it does after seasons that were severe disappointments in both football and basketball, the victory means much to Montana. Perhaps spirit is a prerequisite to winning teams but from our own observations we are inclined to think that winning teams are a prerequisite to school spirit. But besides being a boon to our sorely tried patience, a win over the Washington team has considerable athletic significance. The Cougars beat both Idaho and Gonzaga in a triangular meet two weeks ago, thus making the Grizzlies, so frequently heralded as a dark horse, an actual contender for conference honors.

Senior Class Flunks

SOON after it was learned in 1919 by the Montana Alumni Association that funds raised by the Greater University bond issue could not be used for the construction of an athletic field at Montana, a drive was started among the alumni for $40,000 with which to build the Alumni Challenge Athletic Field.

The field became a matter of the distant future until Aber Day this spring when University students were told of the plans that will give Montana a new field which will be ready for use next fall. The cooperation of the alumni, Central Board, the Athletic Board and the Interscholastic committee made of a myth a reality.

Briefly the plan for raising the capital needed is: Montana graduates are asked to sign a note for an amount of their own choice which is payable in three annual installments, the first payment becoming due one year after date. The note does not bear interest until after maturity. Active student organizations guaranteed the interest on certificates of indebtedness to insure immediate construction. The alumni must provide the capital to retire the bonds.

The construction of the field is an alumni problem. The class of '25 is the spring crop for the graduate organization. Last year the graduating class subscribed an average of $45 per member, a total of several thousand dollars. The class of '25 did not make such a record Monday. A total of $1,615 was subscribed at the senior meeting by 42 members of a class of 150, an average of $12.37 for each member of the class.

In the first test, we of the largest Montana graduating class either could not or did not "field our position." There are among us but very few who cannot make a $20 a year sacrifice for the coming three years to show in small part our appreciation for our alma mater.

Nine thousand dollars would be raised if each member of this year's class would sign a $60 note. Such an amount would be sufficient to retire one-quarter of the original principal four years from this month. Such a precedent would insure Montana of a $100,000 stadium in 1935. Can Montana grow?

A committee has been appointed to solicit the delinquent members of the class of '25. When they call on you, "do your stuff."

Wanted--More Candidates

WE ARE a bit disappointed to find that thus far there have been only four petitions filed for the ASUM election. In view of the fact that all names must be submitted on or before May 8 we feel justified in venturing the opinion that the number of entries will be fewer this year than it has been on previous occasions. Not only have petitions been fewer than usual for this stage of the game, but several prospective candidates have already signified their intentions of withdrawing their names, leaving the possibility of single platforms for several of the offices.

Since our elective system requires but a limited number of petition signers and is exposed, as all college elections are, to easy manipulation, it is highly desirable that the field be as flourishing as possible. It certainly should be unnecessary to remind the student body that fraternity affiliations are not a necessary qualification for candidacy, and that the balance of political power, on the contrary, is actually held by a non-fraternal constituency. We are anxious to see more names on the ballot which are representative of an honest desire to serve the student body, and fewer names which have as their primary concern the welfare of some particular organization.

Too Tired

SPEAKING of beating Washington State College, when the victorious athletes stepped down off the train Sunday morning they found three boisterous rooters awaiting their arrival. Students of the University of Montana evidently forgot their zeal for Cougar meat when their enthusiasm conflicted with the pleasanter task of pounding their ears.

Whatever the explanation is, it can hardly be complimentary either to the student body or to whatever organization is in charge of meeting the trains. A winning track team is the product of long hours of hard work and conscientious training and the least the students can do is show their appreciation by doing the few things that ordinary decency demands. Our smattering knowledge of human nature would prompt us to forget the incident had the Montana athletes fared less successfully than they did, but under the circumstances we are at a loss to account for a breach of traditional etiquette that obviously amounts to rank discourtesy.

We Wonder

Now that sorority baseball is about to start if the editor of the Kaimin will get any added material for editorials.

Mr. Edward Bok paid a man a hundred thousand dollars for a peace plan. Anyhow, after the next big war started Eddie can have the man arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Heavens! That makes it worse and worse.

The Low Down

Simon called Peter, yes; but what are the facts? According to Hippolytus, it happened this way:

The two had been playing all night in a joint in Jerusalem and finally decided to play the consolation, with the sky for the limit, and go home. Peter opened, and Simon raised. Peter stayed and they each took one card. The betting was brisk, but finally Peter says, "It'll cost money to look at my hand," and he shoved in seven hundred drachmas. Simon said, "I call you. Waddayagot?" "Oh, just four little typewriters here," said Peter, layin' 'em down and reaching for the pot. "Back up, brother," says Simon, and he puts down four aces. "Jumpin' unicorns!" gasped Peter, "did you have 'em before the draw?" "Sure," says Simon, "about two hours before."

Our Girl

She doesn't want a chaperone. She wants a chap alone.

New Song Hit

Meet me in the lobby by the revolving door and we'll run 'round together.

He—Let's tell jokes.
She—Oh, let's not jest now.

Dumb—That's the first time I ever seen anyone play checkers alone.
Sharp—He ain't playin' checkers; he's workin' a cross-word puzzle.

Professor (sternly)—Why don't you pay more attention to me, John?
John (thinking about his date the evening before)—"I shall after this, dear, I shall."

Why is it always the guy without enough ability to earn a living who barks over the injustice of existing social and economic conditions?

The Political Pot Boils Merrily
"Say, Mary, if you'll get your gang to vote for Peter for president, we'll support Susie for secretary. The boys down to the house think the world of Susie and your tong, anyway—specially Peter; say, that boy would do anything for your outfit—says you've got the keenest bunch of women on the campus. He'll make a real president, too—got the interest of the old school at heart. We aren't runnin' him just because he's a Tappa Rho but because he's a big man an' can help out the old school. University first, that's our slogan, etc., etc."

Prepare to hear this line of guff most any time. It will come.
This week we wish to arise and award the hand-painted goboon to the guy who can't get a date with a co-ed but raves about the superbly wonderful gal he has waiting for him back home.

SMOCKS!

New Fads in Colors and Pictures

"Smocks for the new students in the art department arrived Tuesday," Mrs. Belle Bateman, instructor in the department, announced yesterday. "More than 20 new students are taking art, and practically every one has blossomed out in a bright, new smock. Blue is the favorite color, but green and purple are prominent."

"There originated almost immediately the fad of having Arnold Gillette paint the features of a dog on the smocks and Josephine Modlin those of a cat. I understand that on many campuses, especially in or near Chicago, the fad of wearing smocks in place of light coats has become very popular."

STATE FOREST WEEK PROVES SUCCESSFUL

"Probably one of the most successful American Forest Weeks ever held in Montana closed Sunday," said Dean T. C. Spaulding of the Forestry school.

"Never before have we received as much support from outside interests as we have this year. The aid given by private lumbering companies as well as the United States Forest Service, State Forestry office and private individuals was remarkable."

The pamphlets sent out by the Forestry school, entitled "Programs for American Forest Week," were well received throughout the state, according to Dean Spaulding. The booklet contained a prospective program for the schools of the state to follow during the week. Practically all of the western Montana schools used these pamphlets in the observance of the occasion.

The University radio station aided materially in making the week a success. Talks were broadcast with the regular programs during the week ending May 3. The entire faculty of the Forestry school as well as several seniors were covering western Montana, giving short talks on the ideas and aims of the observance of such a week. Speeches were made at various community gatherings and at schools throughout this section of Montana.

Other Campuses

Cambridge, Mass.—The current issue of the Harvard Lampoon, the humorous publication of Harvard University, was ordered from all Cambridge news stands by the police. The issue is a burlesque on the weekly news magazines and the charge against it is the offensive use of the American flag on the cover, according to police.

The design to which exception was taken includes a burlesque picture of Washington crossing the Delaware. Washington is shown with a hatchet in his right hand, while his left hand is held in a pose characteristic of Napoleon. One of the eight men in the boat with Washington holds the flag; another is pictured about to hurl a snowball; while still another is seen attempting to shove a boat hook into a shark's mouth. A man in the back of the boat is smoking a pipe and reading a newspaper, while his companion is salvaging a bottle from the river with a landing net. Lump sugar is being fed to a polar bear by another man.

On the shore of the Delaware in the background a sign reads: "Welcome to Trenton. Board of Trade."

University of California.—Succeeding the Men's Interfraternity council, the formation of a new body, to be known as the Men's Pan-Hellenic council, was effected at the Southern branch of the University of California recently.

The new organization is composed of an all-inclusive group listing every recognized social fraternity on the southern campus. Its activities will be purely of a business nature. The council will have jurisdiction over interfraternity athletics and scholastic competition.

The New Student.—The Western Reserve Weekly, Cleveland, Ohio, recently successfully carried through a parody on the Cleveland Press, a local afternoon paper of the extremely sensational variety. It was called the Mess, and contained everything from the flaming headlines to the back page of comics. The parody was gotten up with the advice and assistance of editors of the Cleveland Press.

University of California.—To arouse California's fighting spirit for University Day, April 10 and 11 were song days. Songs were sung in all classes, the special number being

"Down From the North." Besides animating a spirit that has been smoldering since last semester, the singing provided a much needed opportunity for practicing bleacher songs, according to the yell king.

University of Wisconsin.—A Niagara Falls of milk from Wisconsin dairy cows, an egg fried on ice by electrical processes, specimen of every kind of fish in Wisconsin lakes and rivers, will be three of the striking exhibits of the University of Wisconsin Exposition to be held in Madison, April 16-18.

A cheese factory showing all the processes of cheese making, a homogenator demonstrating the separation of globules of butter fat from milk and the scientific production of ice cream, and a bottling works will be features of the dairy exhibit. The swimming pool of the gymnasium will be turned into an aquarium to house every specimen of fish in the state. The pool will be lighted and the fish fenced off to keep larger varieties from eating the smaller fish.

University of Wisconsin.—A large number of students from the school of journalism at the University of Wisconsin will inspect various newspaper plants and other establishments in Chicago this month. Their itinerary includes the Western Newspaper Union, the Barnes Crosby Engraving company, the Associated Press, the City News bureau, the Chicago Tribune, and the Chicago Herald-Examiner.

HOW OLD?

Your Age Don't Fib. We Have You Spotted

University women are almost two years younger than University men, according to statistics compiled on ages of Montana students by students in the School of Journalism. The average age of the women is 19.95, while that of the men is 21.3. Whether the women are naturally more intelligent than the men will always be a question, and these figures do not prove that they are.

Freshmen women, as would be naturally expected, are the youngest—their average age is 18.5. Freshmen men are slightly more than a year older, their average being 19.6. Sophomores are close upon the heels of the freshmen, the average for women being 19.5 while that of men is 20.9. This indicates just about a year's difference and shows that little time is wasted between the first two years of the college career. However, a slight increase is shown by statistics of the average age of juniors and seniors. Junior women average 20.7 years, junior men 22. Senior women average 22.2 years and senior men 24.6. The increase might be accounted for by the fact that many students leave college after two years, some to return after a year or so, and others never to return.

An interesting feature noticed in securing the statistics was that 60 women and 48 men at the University failed to state their ages on their registration cards. Women are more vain than men, but men are surprisingly sensitive about their ages.

Montana statistical age table follows:

Class	Average age of Men	Average age of Women
Freshmen	18.6	18.5
Sophomores	20.9	19.5
Juniors	22.2	20.7
Seniors	24.6	22.2
Total average	21.3	19.9

GONZAGA BULLDOGS DEFEAT GRIZZLIES IN FIRST GAMES

Montana Team Unable to Hit Spokane Twirlers; Few Errors

Inability to hit was the chief cause for Montana's 6-0 and 11-5 defeats at the hands of Gonzaga Friday and Saturday. To strengthen this weakness, Cap Cummings will have the Fort Missoula team in for another practice game tomorrow afternoon.

The first game started nicely, both teams going scoreless for three innings. In the fourth, Gonzaga, Bulldog shortstop and leading hitter of the series, crashed out a triple, which was one of the longest hits made here this season. His effort was all in vain, however, when Danta Hanson pulled the old hidden ball gag. An error by Anderson on Ingram's drive, and singles by Reecooni and Hattrup netted two runs in this frame.

O'Connor held the Bulldogs during the next two innings, but in the seventh he was smacked for a triple by Burke and singles by Wilkins and Rotchford. Hattrup walked, and a long drive by Ingram brought four tallies across.

The visitors bunched their hits, while the Grizzlies failed to connect with men on. Ilman and Kelly got two safeties each, but died on bases. Tarbox and Berg were the only other Grizzlies who connected in the opening game.

During the seventh inning merry-go-round, Kelly sprained his ankle attempting to recover a bad throw, and was forced to retire. Berg went in to catch, and Wood took right field. Bilt will be all right by May 13, when the University of Washington team comes here for a game.

Gonzaga made five errors in the infield in this game, but none were costly. Dwyer had things his own way, and when necessary tightened up a clam. Ingram played a whirlwind game at center, while Hattrup did some nice headwork behind the plate.

The second tilt was a battling affair for Gonzaga, the Spokane boys cracking Centerwall for 15 blows in eight innings and Hanson for two doubles in the ninth. Ryan, a port-sider, set the Grizzlies down with four hits.

Wilkins singled to open and scored on Hattrup's three-bagger. Centerwall kept the hits well scattered for the next four innings, but in the sixth a double by Flaherty, an error and a lucky single by Burke netted two counters. In her time at bat Montana scored her first tally of the series on two errors, Hanson being safe at home when Hattrup dropped Hattrup's pretty peg.

The invaders scored another one in the next inning and two more in the eighth. Then Ilman walked, went to second on a passed ball, and scored on Berg's liner. Tarbox flew out; Wood, who went in as a pinch hitter, was hit, and both of them scored when Reecooni misjudged Meagher's hard drive and it went for a homer, the only one of the series.

Our next conference game is with the University of Washington Wednesday, May 13. The same day the boys leave for a five-game road trip. They will play W.S.C. May 14, Idaho May 15, Gonzaga May 16, Whitman May 18, Washington May 19.
